Residency Criteria:
- College students are counted where they live and sleep most of the time. If they live on-campus but stay with their parents/guardians over winter, spring, and summer breaks, they are counted at their on-campus living arrangement.
- College students who are U.S. citizens living outside the U.S. while attending college are not counted in the state-side census.
- College students who are foreign citizens living in the U.S. while attending college are counted at the on-campus or off-campus U.S. residence where they live and sleep most of the time.
- Boarding school students living away from their parents’ or guardians’ home while attending boarding school below the college level, including Bureau of Indian Affairs boarding schools, are counted at their parents’ or guardians’ home.
- Students in residential schools for people with disabilities on Census Day are counted at the school.
- Staff members living at boarding schools or residential schools for people with disabilities on Census Day are counted at the residence where they live and sleep most of the time. If they do not have a usual home elsewhere, they are counted at the school.
